Jane Duncan Rogers founded Before I Go Solutions in 2017 after her husband died and she discovered just how important planning in advance for a good end of life is.

It's enabled her to bring together over 25 years in coaching, personal growth leadership (Jane was the first person to lead the famous Louise L Hay's 'You Can Heal Your Life' study groups in the UK and Europe) and small business mentoring.

We train and equip people to help others make their end of life plans, bringing peace of mind, reassurance and relief to those you are working with AND their families through our accredited intensive training, the tools, the systems, and the ongoing support so you can bring to the world this crucial work.

Save loved ones from the unnecessary stress, arguments, and expense that happens when a loved one dies without an end of life plan in place.
